

THREE MORE DEAD, ONE DYING, FROM POISONED LIQUOR

One Man Had Been Fed Bad
Hooch for Robbery, Police Believe.

William Space, thirty-six, of No. 164 South Street, Jersey City, is dead at Jersey City Hospital today from the effects of alcoholic drink, according to the physicians in attendance. The man's wife said he came home Monday evening and told her he had been robbed in a saloon, where he had gone to sleep after having two drinks. He missed $100 from his pockets when he awoke, he told his wife.

He went to bed when he arrived home, but was not supposed to be seriously ill until about 11 o'clock last night, when Dr. Joseph Wechsler of No. 240 Boulevard was called. He and Ambulance Surgeon Shock of the illness was caused by drink, but said they could not be sure whether it was from wood alcohol. The case was reported to the County Physicians and an autopsy was to be performed.

Mrs. Space said her husband did not know where the saloon was. Lillian Carroll, twenty-nine, an actress, of No. 450 West 58th Street, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at No. 140 West 58th Street, where she was visiting Mrs. Della McDonald and Mrs. Sarah McDonald. Dr. Charles Casassa, Assistant Medical Examiner, who ordered the body removed to the morgue for an autopsy to-day gave it as his opinion that death was due to wood alcoholism.

Blind Wilcox, twenty-six, of No. 21 West Street, West Hoboken, died at the North Hudson Hospital, presumably from wood alcohol poisoning. John Carmello, thirty-five, a boot-black, with his stand at 521st Street and Eighth Avenue for ten years, met a friend yesterday afternoon and shared a flask of hooch with him. An hour later, Carmello, totally blind, was found trying to pick his way through the maze of traffic at Columbus Circle. As Policemen Schmechel ran up Carmello fell unconscious on the sidewalk. He was rushed to Bellevue Hospital in a critical condition from wood alcohol poisoning. Last night it was said his recovery is doubtful. Carmello's home is at No. 445 West 123 Street.

GERMAN RAILROAD STRIKE A FAILURE

Men in Most Cases Disregard Order—Occupied Zone Is Unaffected.

BERLIN, Feb. 2 (Associated Press).—Reports to the Government from all parts of Germany to-day indicated that the order for the railway strike called to begin at midnight last night had not been generally obeyed. The men, however, in portions of Northern and Western Germany appear to have gone out. There was no walk-out in the occupied zone, where the Inter-Allied Rhine-land Commission had prohibited the strike becoming effective. The railway authorities here in Berlin expressed belief that they would be able, with the assistance of the auxiliary staff, to resume adequate train service by to-night. LONDON, Feb. 2.—Funds of the striking railway men in Germany, amounting to several million marks, have been confiscated from the Berlin Bank in which the monies were deposited, says the Central News despatch from Berlin to-day. Two of the railway strike leaders have been arrested.

WANTED COP; GOT HIM, THEN HE'S ARRESTED

Choppy Held Because He Fired Shot in the Air.

Joseph Choppy, No. 1875 66th Street, Brooklyn, awoke at 5 o'clock this morning and heard a stealthy footstep on the front porch below his window. He leaned out the window and was sure that somebody was tampering with the lock. He also saw two moving shadows but could not see the figures that cast them. He called out, "Who's there?" No answer—but the shadows became motionless. Choppy fired a shot in the air to attract the police. A second later he says he saw two men drop off the porch and disappear. Patrolman Moerschmidt found Choppy waiting for him, still leaning from the second floor window. Despite his explanation, Choppy was arrested on a charge of violating the Sullivan law. Later he was held in $500 bail.

SHELL-SHOCKED VET TELLS OF SHOOTING

Flanagan Testifies in Trial of Detective Charged With Killing Hostler.

Daniel Flanagan, a shell-shocked war veteran from Fall River, Mass., was called to the witness stand in the trial of Detective Sgt. John P. O'Neill, charged with manslaughter, in connection with the shooting of Jeremiah Deucey, a hostler, a year ago in a restaurant at No. 395 Second Avenue. The case has been on all this week.

"I heard two shots," said Flanagan. "And I saw three men run out, and then saw two of them rush in again. There were two more shots. Then I saw the big man (Deucey) bend the thin one (the detective) back over a table. They both rolled off, and the man in charge of the restaurant took the revolver from the thin man's hand."

Dr. Otto Schultz, medical examiner, was called in connection with the plea for the defense that the detective had fired in self defense when the other came at him with a knife.

"There were two kinds of wounds on the detective's body," said the physician. "One was a jagged wound, such as might be caused by broken glass, the other a clean wound, such as a knife would make."

WHAT ARE YOUR WOES COMPARED WITH HER'S?

Mrs. Frankel, Broken Down, Has the Flu, Rest Due and Hungry.

Troubles have been accumulating for Mrs. Elizabeth Frankel, thirty-two, of No. 374 Madison Street, for several weeks past and to-day they culminated in a call by the police for an ambulance surgeon to minister to her ill and a nurse from the Henry Street Settlement to try and care for her through the flu.

With four children, the eldest a boy of thirteen who has won a scholarship from Public School No. 62, she has been holding the family together since her husband deserted her. Broken down over exertion cleaning offices, she lost her work. Then a front room she rented as an office to a lawyer and a City Marshal was vacated for better quarters by them. With the rent due, the gas bill unpaid, without food and in bed to-day with the flu, neighbors who knew of her brave struggle told the police and she joined the list of those dependent upon charity.

THIEVING JANITOR SENT TO SING SING.

William O'Brien, No. 2242 River Avenue, the Bronx, was sentenced to Sing Sing for two years by County Judge Gibbs to-day on his plea of guilty of burglary in the third degree. He had made a fire escape entrance into the apartment of Mrs. Alice Watson at the River Avenue address, where he was employed as janitor, and had stolen silverware, strong boxes and jewelry. He was made but a criminal record was shown and Judge Gibbs would not relent.

BUSINESS MEN QUIT HYLAN IN TWO FIGHTS

League for "Constructive Effort" in Transit and Port Authority Matters.

The Business Men's League, the original Hyland backers, at a meeting of its Executive Committee last night, threw over the Mayor so far as his transit and port development plans are concerned. It adopted a report from its Transit Committee, which favors the Transit Commission's plans and criticizes "talk about fares to the exclusion of service." The committee agreed to line up with former Gov. Smith in the Port Authority plan, holding that the needs of New York require "constructive action."

The league is the organization first named Hyland as a candidate for Mayor in 1917, and had supported his policies, standing by him again in the last campaign. Preston P. Lynde, head of the league and friend of the Mayor, is at Palm Beach, but it was said he is in complete accord with the action.
